

Registered Nurse - UNIT COORDINATOR (Full-Time Position)

York Care Centre is a leading organization in Atlantic Canada providing long-term care, research, and lifestyle living options on a single campus. When it comes to aging care, we do not fit the traditional mold. Constantly reinventing ourselves, we work closely as a team to seek out and implement innovations that lead to making York Care Centre an excellent place to live, visit, and work.

ABOUT THE ROLE

The Unit Coordinator is a member of the care services team, ensuring the effective operations and management of the nursing units and the overall quality of care services to our residents and resident family members.

The Unit Coordinator provides leadership for all care services personnel, and operational leadership for their unit. They provide oversight on the implementation of strategies in areas requiring improvement, interface with all departments and health care providers, and provide direct nursing care.

ABOUT YOU

You are a Registered Nurse, holding a current registration with NANB. You have a minimum of 5 years progressive nursing experience where leadership, administrative abilities and competencies as a practitioner of nursing have been demonstrated. You have gerontological nursing experience (possession of a Gerontological Certificate an asset). You are confident in your style of communication, as well as multi-tasking and organizational skills. Rounding out your candidacy is your initiative, teamwork aptitude, flexibility and adaptability.

WHY CHOOSE US?

Our employees have access to competitive wages, a free onsite fitness centre, free parking, ongoing wellness initiatives, leadership programs, a scholarship program, a 'get inspired' engagement committee with a budget to celebrate important milestones and networking events.
